Cv International Welcomes New CEO, Marking a New Era of Leadership and Growth

BEND, OCTOBER 4, 2023 – Cv International, a leading name in aviation support and nitrogen systems, is pleased to announce that our Board Chairman, Daniel Warden, will be taking on an additional pivotal role as the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of our company, effective September 25, 2023. With an exceptional track record of leadership and a deep understanding of our organization's values and strategic vision, Warden is uniquely positioned to guide our company through its next phase of growth and success. This strategic decision reflects our commitment to seamless leadership transitions and ensuring a continued alignment between our board and executive leadership. We are confident that under Warden's combined stewardship as Chairman and CEO, our company will thrive and reach new heights of innovation and excellence.

Key Highlights:

1. Strategic Vision: Warden is set to lead the company with a strategic vision that will further enhance Cvi's market position, drive innovation, and expand our global footprint.
2. Customer-Centric Focus: With an unwavering commitment to customer satisfaction, Warden will ensure that Cvi continues the timely delivery of high-quality products and services that exceed customer expectations.
3. Operational Excellence: Warden brings a strong focus on operational efficiency and excellence, positioning Cvi for sustainable growth and profitability.
4. Team Empowerment: Warden is dedicated to fostering a culture of collaboration, empowerment, and continuous improvement among Cvi's talented workforce.

Warden expressed his excitement about taking the helm of Cvi: "I am honored and thrilled to lead Cvi into its next chapter. We have a remarkable team, a legacy of excellence, and a commitment to innovation that sets us apart. Together, we will achieve new heights and continue to be a leading force in the manufacturing industry."
